Man Killed When 400 Napanoch Convicts Attack Unarmed Guards; Seven Guards are Injured

of Mutineers Killed When He Lands on Iron Post Instead of Officer's Back—Jesse Christiansa, Guard, of Ellenville, Dying of Fractured Skull—Uprising is Quelled After Fierce Battle.

Expected mutiny among the more than four hundred inmates of the New York State Institution for Defective Delinquents at Napanoch, where they were at supper early Monday evening resulted in the injury of one of the fourteen unarmored guards who were in the dining hall at the time, one of whom, Jesse Christiansa, of Ellenville, probably will die of a fractured skull, and the death of George Sheppard, of New York, one of the ringleaders in the mutiny, who misallucted his discharge when he attempted to jump over the back of a guard and landed instead on his stomach on an iron post at the foot of a stairway, down which a number of inmates were later being marched to the isolation ward.

The four hundred mutinous inmates of the institution, most of whom took part in the attack on the guards, were armed with wooden bowls on which they sat while at their meals in the dining hall and with many crockery bowls, which they used at their guards. The latter were unarmed at the time the mutiny broke out except for canes, which were torn from their hands by the numerous inmates, ten per cent of whom are inmates of the institution because they are charged with homicide.

The institution for Defective Delinquents is the successor of the New York Reformatory, which was abolished by law several years ago. The institution for Defective Delinquents is properly described by its name. At the beginning, defective delinquents were gathered there from other penal institutions of the state. Since then, a population has grown through commitments by the judges of the state, including New York city, of prisoners who have been determined to be defective delinquents and for whom the state believes education and proper training may accomplish some good results. It has been considered wise by the state to segregate the more intelligent criminals from the more intelligent criminals who are inmates of state penal institutions, and under the supervision of Dr. W. N. Thayer, Jr., who is warden of the institution, much progress in the direction intended by the state has been made.

Two general classes of defective delinquents comprise the population of the Napanoch institution. One class, which is small, is quite intelligent in certain lines; the other class is of a noticeably degenerate type. The more intelligent among the inmates became the leaders in the mutiny of Monday evening and evidently had planned it. The more degenerate type, easily influenced, came willing tools in the hands of the leaders. Evidently the leaders in the mutiny Monday evening had been quite a number of their fellow prisoners in their confidence and implicitly relied on the general defection of all prisoners for liberty to take to their aid the mass of the hundred inmates.

The institution for Defective Delinquents is supplied only with a staff of thirty-four men, who work on four shifts. The present staff of guards does not make the job particularly attractive under present pay scales and living costs, and for some time the staff of thirty-four men has been considered entirely inadequate to handle the four hundred inmates. The staff has been further depleted during the past few days on account of the forest fires in the Shawangunk mountains and foothills, which have approached not only the state property but also the isolated homes of some of the guards.

Several guards have been compelled to leave the institution to help fight the fires which have been raging in the Shawangunks for ten days.

The attack on the guards came while they were at supper. They had marched into the dining hall and had barely seated themselves when a signal of some sort which the guards did not recognize, brought scores of the inmates to their feet. The men first on their feet probably were those who had been taken into the confidence of the leaders, but their ranks were quickly augmented by others until practically the entire inmate population of more than four hundred were on their feet, making a dash toward the heavy door through which they could gain freedom.

Every man seized his heavy wooden stool, which resembles a milking stool but is larger, and the inmates used these as clubs as they attacked the heavy door and attempted to break it down. Others seized the heavy crockery bowls with which they are supplied at the table, and hurled them at the door and windows at the windows and walls, making noise by the howling, shouting inmates cannot be adequately described.

The fourteen guards on duty in the dining hall at the time tried to hold the inmates at bay while a heavy door, which would give them one step nearer liberty,

NEAR EAST PEACE TREATY IS SIGNED

Ends Turkey's 13 Years of Warfare—Is Voluntary But Doesn't Settle Mosul Oil Dispute.

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, July 24.—The Near East peace treaty was signed at Lausanne at 3 o'clock this afternoon, said a News Agency dispatch from that city. Lausanne, July 24.—Signing of the Near East peace treaty here today brings peace to Turkey after more than 12 years of nearly continuous warfare. In that time Turkey fought the Balkan states twice, Italy and Greece and also took part in the World War on the side of the central powers.

The time set for the signing was three o'clock in the great hall of the Lausanne University. The treaty contains 143 articles, but omits settlement of the Ottoman debt and the Mosul oil claims. In addition to the treaty there are 15 separate protocols.

The American agreement with Turkey, mainly commercial in character, will be signed before the end of the week.

Minnick Has Landlady's Daughter—Landlady Has $120 Board Bill.

This morning at 2:30 o'clock police headquarters received a telephone call from the Newburgh police stating they had picked up one Henry Minnick who had a young girl with him. Minnick had informed the Newburgh authorities that he was married to the girl on April 6 by the Rev. Father Cushman of Kingston. They were without money and had walked from Kingston to Newburgh and were preparing to walk to Butler Valley, Pa.

As there is a warrant out for Minnick's arrest the Newburgh police were asked to hold him until the Kingston authorities could send someone after him. From the police here it was learned that Minnick had been employed by the Kingston Gas & Electric Company, and had been boarding at the home of Mrs. Minnie Gaylor at 482 Hasbrouck avenue. A short time ago Minnick left suddenly owing her a board bill of $120. Her daughter, Loreta, also left with Minnick. At the city clerk's office it was ascertained that Minnick and Miss Gaylor had been married by the Rev. Father Cushman on the date stated.

Mrs. Gaylor several days ago swore out a warrant for Minnick's arrest on the charge of defrauding her of the board bill of $120.

FIREBUG HUNTED AT ELLENVILLE

Ellenville and its surrounding territory are being scourged by residents and local authorities in search of a man, whom they believe lighted three fires on the Greenfield and Cape Pond roads on Sunday night.

All three fires started within a few minutes of one another and threatened several large boarding houses. Persons who were nearby saw a mysterious man flee from the point at which the last fire broke out. They immediately gave chase but were unsuccessful.

Sunday evening residents of the Greenfield section discovered that a fire had broken out in the brush. Almost at the same time residents of Cape Pond section found two fires raging. Boarders and residents rushed to combat the flames, which were started near the Raskin House, when they saw a man skulk into the forest. After an hour's work the last trace of the incendiary fires had disappeared. Just what could be the motive of the firebug remains a mystery.

Shoots Self Accidentally.

Hudson, July 24.—William Hollenbeck, thirty-five and single, teller of the Farmers' National Bank, accidentally shot himself last night. He was removed to the Hudson hospital, where it was said he had only a slight chance of recovery. Mr. Hollenbeck was in his garage cleaning a revolver when the weapon exploded, the bullet going through the left lung just below the heart.

MINE FACTIONS GIVE NO GROUND

Operators Refuse to Recognize Unions and Collect Union Dues and Men Insist On It, Both Being Willing to Let Strike Come Rather Than Yield—Wage Increase Also Demanded—Neither Fears Government.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Atlantic City, N. J., July 24.—A strike in the anthracite coal fields looms as inevitable September 1, unless the government or the force of public opinion intervenes to bring about a change of sentiment on the part of the operators and miners now here attempting to negotiate a wage agreement to replace the present contract expiring August 31.

Although none of the negotiators will permit themselves to be quoted as accurately indicating the present situation:

The miners propose to insist on a complete recognition of the United Mine Workers in the anthracite fields and they will strike to enforce this demand. The operators do not propose to grant this demand, which would establish the much discussed "check off" in the anthracite fields, and they will permit a strike before they will grant it.

The miners propose to insist on a substantial wage increase, not necessarily the 20 per cent increase which they have written into the informal demands, but a material addition to their pay envelopes. The operators, faced with increasing competition, do not propose to grant any wage increase.

The fear of government intervention, regarded last week as the largest factor in bringing about an agreement, has been dissipated during the ten days recess of the conference. The miners, as expressed in the Wilkes-Barre convention, have decided that they are not afraid of government officials stepping in. The operators are quietly taking the position that the recommendation of federal coal commission for government intervention would not be upheld by the courts, even should it be passed by congress, and congressional action is admittedly a long way off.

Publication of the positive statements of John Hays Hammond and Thomas H. Marshall to the effect that there would be no coal strike tightened the lines perceptibly. Each side drew from the statements inference that the other was prepared to make the concessions which would avoid a strike. The joint scale subcommittee, headed by S. D. Warner for the operators and John L. Lewis for the miners, will meet again today for what promises to be another futile afternoon of detailed questioning. If, as reported, Rinaldo Canellani, takes his place as the fourth member of the miners' group, it is possible that the operators may make an extended and detailed reply to the miners' demands and thus bring out into the open the deadlock which all agree exists beneath the surface of the conference.

A Monticello Sleeper.

About 5 o'clock Monday evening police headquarters received a call from Converse street stating there was a drunken man in the vicinity. The police car was sent and found Don Conway of Monticello, asleep in a clump of weeds. Don had been testing some Colman hogs and it had proven too potent. This morning Judge Schrick suspended payment of a $10 fine provided Don returned home.

An Ambulance Cb.

This morning at 5 o'clock the police ambulance was called to remove Mrs. Edith VanVliet from 223 Downs street to the Benedictine Hospital.

FOREST FIRE FLAMES AFRESH

Shift in Wind Takes Blaze Towards Mount Meehan and Every Available Fire Fighter is Pressed Into Service—Hard Work Saves Buildings.

The forest fire which has been raging in the Shawangunk mountains between Ellenville and Kerhonkson for several days was again burning at a terrific pace Monday night. Earlier in the day it was thought that the fire was under control but toward night it broke out again in another direction and today was reported as burning briskly toward the Ellenville end of the mountain and at the top of the mountains in the neighborhood of Mount Meehan. The fire has burned over several miles of territory and the long line makes it almost impossible to keep a close watch upon it.

After the hardest kind of fighting for several days the lighters and the fire under control on Monday when the wind shifted and the fire broke out again.

Every available man is being pressed into service and large parties are being rushed to the scene to combat the fire. Every person who can be pressed into service is being set to work and parties passing on the road are being pressed into service. State Troopers are being used to assist the men who have been working for several days and are becoming exhausted by their long fight in the stilling smoke and heat.

In the section where the fire was burning today there are several houses and one schoolhouse is dangerously near the fire line. Every effort is being made to turn the flames from the buildings and today it was reported that there had been no loss of buildings. Only by continued efforts on the part of the half exhausted men however has property been saved.

COUSIN OF FAMOUS "PETER'S PAINTER" DEAD?

There has been considerable anxiety on the part of parents in this city who have girls camping at the girl scout camp at Ideal Park because of stories of the appearance of a wild cat in the vicinity of Mt. Tremper. However this cat was killed the latter part of last week by workmen near Big Indian. It was stated by residents in that vicinity that the cat was one of the largest ever seen in these parts, and if it was not "Peter's painter" itself must have been at least a full cousin to that famous animal.

TEN CHECKS ARE SIGNED AT ONCE

Instrument Speeds Up Work of the Pension Office.

DELIVERY IS WELL-TIMED

The pension office of the Department of the Interior last month filled out and signed 549,005 checks representing the payment of $29,990,018 to old soldiers and their widows, as well as retired employees of the federal government, according to an announcement by Secretary Work. Doctor Work said this number of checks exceeds that of any other government bureau.

A remarkable feature is that they are mailed and dispatched so that every one of them reaches the pensioners by the fourth of the following month. Here is how it is done by Doctor Work:

"The checks are printed in sheets of five with attached stubs, the latter being kept in books of 1,000 for convenience. After the checks are carefully reviewed to ascertain the correctness of names, certificate numbers, dates and amounts, they are sent to clerks designated to sign them and whose signatures are already on file with the treasurer of the United States, upon whom all checks are drawn.

Signs Ten Checks. "These check signers, in order to sign promptly such a volume of them within the brief time allotted for that work, use the ten-pen signograph, which enables each to affix a signature to ten checks at a single operation. After they are signed the sheets of checks are cut by an electric cutting machine and are then inclosed for mailing.

"By the use of window envelopes the name and address shown on the check itself is that from which delivery is made. After the checks are enclosed in the envelopes and sealed they are placed in boxes holding about 420 each, labeled by states, it requiring 1,200 boxes for the purpose. These boxes are then placed in mail sacks. When filled it requires twelve heavy office trucks to convey them to the city post office.

"All pension checks are sent to the Washington post office about one week prior to the 4th of the month, when the pension is due. The city post office routes for dispatch from that office upon proper schedules those checks destined for points comparatively near to the city of Washington and releases them so that they will reach the post office of delivery on the 4th of the month.

Held for Release.

"These checks for points farther distant are resacked and forwarded at once to the superintendent of the railway mail service in their respective districts throughout the country, and with them are special instructions that they be held and released for dispatch in the same manner as are those for places near Washington.

"Civil service retirement checks are not dispatched ahead as is the case with pension checks. The law provides that they shall not be mailed until the first business day of each month."

COAST HAS HOME SHORTAGE

Over a Million Buildings Necessary to Meet Growing Demands.

The Pacific coast has a shortage of 800,000 homes and a total shortage of 1,000,000 buildings, according to Fred C. Todd, district manager of the Pacific States Electric company, who made public at San Francisco a report on a survey on building operations in the West.

"Recent reports," Mr. Todd said, "show building operations throughout the United States became normal in the middle of 1922 for the first time since early in 1915. The Pacific coast shows an accumulated shortage of 800,000 homes and an equal number of other types of buildings, making a total of 1,600,000 building operations necessary to make up the shortage.

"This means that while the first three months of 1923 showed an increase in building activities in this territory of 38 per cent above normal economists agree 25 per cent per year above normal in building operations is required for the next five years to take care of the demand.

"High labor costs and exorbitant prices of materials will tend to curtail these operations."

WHY THE FARMER WALKED

He Was So Busy in Town, He Forgot About Horse.

William Gilliland, a farmer, rode from his home, one mile east of English, Ind., and hitched his horse in the most convenient place he could find in the business section of the city. He then set out on a round of the stores. Half an hour later he was walking along the road, approaching his home with his recent purchases under his arm. He heard a horse coming behind him from the direction of town.

"That sounds a lot like my little black mare," Mr. Gilliland said to himself, as he turned into his own doorway. He stopped, looked and saw the horse he had rode to town. A neighbor was astride the animal and laughing heartily.

"I thought I had better bring your horse home, Mr. Gilliland," the neighbor explained. "I saw that you had forgotten her."

SHOUTS IN TROUBLE AGAIN

At 9 o'clock Monday evening headquarters received a telephone call that there was a woman on the porch at No. 15 DeWitt street, and to send an officer at once. When the police arrived Mrs. John Koubout placed her husband under arrest and turned over to Officer Welch.

His morning in police court when arraigned before Judge Schrick used his tongue too freely and was fined $10 for contempt of court.

Koubout entered a plea of not guilty to striking his wife the hearing was adjourned to Thursday and bail fixed at $250.

Alfred Alderman John A. Fleher asked the bail for Koubout. Several neighbors of the Koubouts in court this morning and in Judge Schrick that the pair were always in trouble and disturbance in the neighborhood. According to neighbors both husband and wife were at fault.

Mrs. Koubout informed Judge Schrick that her husband had threatened to take her life and she was afraid of him. They were ordered to keep away from each other until the present case was decided in court.

W. G. McAdoo, Jr.

Although William Gibbs McAdoo, son-in-law of President Wilson and formerly Secretary of the Treasury, is expected to admit, in Washington, that he even had a hat, his conference in the national capital indicates that he really does possess a political hat and that he is about ready to get into the ring for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency next year.

W. G. McAdoo, Jr.

United States Senator Smith W. McKnight, of Iowa, who has just returned to his desk in Washington after an extensive tour of investigation, is demanding that President Harding call an extra session of Congress to consider legislation urged by the farmer and labor blocs in Congress.

FOR GROUNDS ARE COSTING COLONIALS GAMES

Some Diamond Among Worst They Play On.

For some time past the local Fair grounds have been in bad shape and still continue in that shape. The infield has now grown to be one of the worst of any belonging to the leading semi-pro teams along the Hudson Valley. The pebbles which were found all over the field make it very difficult for the men playing in positions on both the visiting teams and the local team. This condition also makes it practically impossible for an outfielder to get a man off at the plate as the ball will invariably take a hop when it strikes the infield which makes it impossible for the catcher to stop it. Coach Schrick states that in his belief that half of the games which the local club is losing on the local diamond is due to the fact that the grounds are in this condition.

Definition of Great Novel.

A true great novel, says John Middleton Murry, in the Yale Review, is a story and a direct revelation of reality in the light of a unique consciousness of the man who has made it his own.

Yes, Verily.

The man who wrote, "Joy cometh in the morning," lived before the time of the clock. —San Francisco Chronicle.

MASONS TO HAVE OUTING AUGUST 7

The Masons are to have a "big time" on August 7. It is to be held at the new Ritz-Allen, the popular place of Woodstock. Fun will begin at 5 o'clock which will consist of a ball game, athletic sports for both the ladies and men. Prizes will be given to the winners. The sports will be run off from 5 to 7 o'clock, and at 7:30 the Ritz-Allen will serve one of their popular dinners. Then from 8:30 to 11:00 o'clock there will be dancing. The only drawback to this affair is they can only serve 200 people and probably 400 will want to go, so it will be necessary to procure tickets early or be disappointed. Many tickets have already been sold. A few tickets will be on sale at Ostrander & Woolsey's clothing store, uptown, Connelly's drug store, downtown, at the Kingston Trust Company Branch on Broadway, and at Simpkins and Jones Art Shop at Woodstock.

Printed Silk Is Used to Decorate This Hat

Printed silk swatches this little cloche of soft beige felt and matches the embroidery of black and white that trims the beige frock. It is a late French fashion.

Curtains and Floors Suggest Simplicity

Curtains for the summer cottage should be of simple materials, depending upon the general style of the furnishings. For the rustic cabin, burlap, in natural color or in blue or green, has some advantages. For the gay cabin, cretonne, figured calico, striped linen or figured satin may be selected. Unbleached cotton in the natural color or dyed is another popular fabric that may be adapted to many uses. Curtains made of it are easily kept fresh and crisp. White materials such as dotted swiss and cross-hatched dimity have the merit of simplicity, but they need frequent trips to the laundry. For the beach cottage materials having much dressing should be avoided as when the fog rolls in it renders them limp and unlovely.

Painted walls are best. Next to these are those in the natural wood, oiled or stained. Papered walls are totally unsuited to the real cabin or informal cottage. If some wall covering is considered necessary, burlap is perhaps the best, for it preserves the informal character essential. Burlap-covered walls may be painted or varnished or both and thus rendered dust resisting.

Floor coverings should not be heavy or warm looking. Linoleum, grass rugs, those made of woven rushlike fiber, those Indian druggists that are so wear-resistant, reversible linen rugs and the Klimax fiber rugs that are light in weight, reversible and have good colors and patterns are all ready for the seeker after the best and most suitable.

Bare floors painted or stained are cool and sanitary, but comfort dictates the use of some small rugs even if the larger ones are rejected. A beach cottage that has been newly built and furnished this season has linoleum on every floor in the house. Linoleum comes in such good colors and patterns that its suitability for many rooms is now being recognized.

Sporting Squibs of All Kinds

The yellow peril is less menacing to the tennis world; Kumagai has quit.

William M. Johnston, American tennis star, is defeating the best of them in Europe.

C. B. Bowles '24 of Springfield, Mass., has been elected captain of the Yale golf team for next year.

The velocity of a golf ball as it leaves the driver of a good player is computed to be 135 miles an hour.

Leonard Goldwater, varsity track man of Michigan, keeps in condition by taking jobs as an ordinary seaman on ocean vessels.

Frank J. Marshall of New York is the champion chess player of the United States, a title which he has held for fourteen years.

Preliminary tennis competitions in the United States for the Davis cup will be played at Chicago Aug. 8 and 9 and at Brookline Aug. 15-17.

PHOENICIA.

Phoenicia, July 20.—The Phoenician Fish and Game Association has been an active one since its organization and has a live wire official board and the members are interested in the work and cooperating. The association has put forth much effort to keep and better the fishing conditions. Every year care has been exercised to restock the streams and so the many who love to follow the trout streams in the Catskills are still finding good fishing. And if the fishermen doesn't get a big fish hooked, it's up to him. For no one can put any fish stories over on the Fish and Game Association. While considerable has been done regarding game, especially the deer, the association is considering the hunter still more closely and have taken steps leading to this. Many hundreds of pheasant eggs were brought in and distributed to the members who in turn placed them under hens for hatching. The chicks to be kept until the right age to be freed into the woods. D. Hilson has been distributing these in various places throughout the section and H. Clancy received 90 birds of right growth to be allowed freedom in the wild. As the pheasant centers where the undergrowth is thick, this section seems an ideal one. Next March people here hope to have the pleasure of hearing the crow of the pheasant, no matter if it is a short one. Congratulations to the association. The activity put forth means a new life to the forests and it is also a benefit to the game and fish. Let all heed the association's slogan, "rejoice in the adage of the Indian who member the streams and woods." Just tipped the streams and woods. "Just enough for the need and none killed after that for the sport.

The iron for the temporary bridge came July 18th and is being placed and footmen are crossing on the sleepers. But it will be a few days before the bridge is ready for autos to cross. The detour is in full swing although somewhat relieved by some who cross the creek instead of going around. The flag men are true to their post and only one has been made to turn a somersault out of the road by the fellow who gets in a hurry and things he is "it."

The Prudential Insurance Company of the Kingston district were given an outing to Lake Mohonk on Thursday. The day was a fine one and the trip was enjoyed to and from the lake. Many sports were held in the forenoon. The points of interest and the situation itself of the great house and lake upon the mountain afforded a worth while outing, all finding it so. Those going from this finding it so. Mr. and Mrs. district here were Mr. and Mrs. Keyser. Assistant Superintendent Adickes and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ruff, Mr. and Mrs. G. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. D. Ennis, Miss Harriet Loomis and W. Gormley.

Some part of the harness breaking, the team of Mr. Gormley, driven by Mr. Rose, ran away in the street. Mr. Rose with only one line in hand jumped and saved himself from serious injury as the team was attached to a moving machine, the knives down. People and cars at the side got out of the way as quickly as possible. The horses would have been killed on the track as a train was near but they swerved, striking

W. Coons's butcher automobile, which was parked near Lawyer Dibel's office. The force threw the horses, and the moving machine went on top of the one horse more than the other. A force extricated the horses as quickly as could be done. Both horses were hurt, the one having a bad chest bruise and was punctured by the knives, which had to be pulled out. The machine was badly damaged and the auto was broken. And, still it was a fortunate accident that no children were in the street or cars passing, as the maddened horses came with a rush down through the main thoroughfare. Had it not been for the detour the story might have been far different.

A fair will be held August 2nd in Pythian Hall. The aid of the M. E. Church will have fancy and useful articles for sale. Nice balsam pillows, rugs and quilts. A cold paper will be served besides the cake and ice cream to be had.

Miss Riseley of Alibon was in the place Thursday. Her friends were glad to see her.

Iva Jones of Grand Gorge will spend the rest of the summer in this place.

The dry spell is ruining the berry crop and making a bad set back for the gardeners. The lawns are burned yellow.

D. Hilson is painting his house. The two shades of blending color line makes it look very attractive.

Mrs. W. Conerty is entertaining her brother from New York city.

Arthur and Alfred Kaler of Schenectady are visiting their brother and wife at Chichester. Their many friends are glad to see them again.

Mrs. J. Elvy, brother and sister, left Thursday for a trip to Atlantic City and other points.

Adrian Loomis and F. Mills of Kaaterskill spent Wednesday evening here.

Miss Lorna Van Demark took a party of friends to Kingston Point for an outing. All had a good time.

Great sympathy is extended to the city friends renting one of Mr. Rawson's cottages for the death of the husband. The body was shipped back to the city.

The sympathy is extended to the parents who lost their sweet little daughter by being burned so badly that it died.

AN IDEAL PRESIDENT.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt says we need a many-sided President who shall have "the high, clear idealism of Mr. Wilson when he wrote the 11 points," who shall have "the persuasive and suave manner of President Harding," and who shall be distinguished by "the battle-like behavior of Borah," and "the oratory of Wendell Phillips." Moreover, this ideal President "must have enough money to be free from temptation and not enough to be suspected of commercial handiwork; the hands of this generously gifted President 'must not hold coal'; and there must be no pockets 'stuffed with iron' nor clothes that 'swell of oil.' Obviously it is a large order, and it will at once be asked if such a super-man can be found. America has never been able to combine all these qualities in a single man and so far it has omitted to seek them in a woman. Perhaps this omission is what Mrs. Catt is really thinking of. At any rate she frankly declares that men have made a mess of government, and adds the information that, though she had hoped to retire to the quiet existence of a farmer, she has changed her mind and will devote the rest of her life to politics.

However, she does not yet announce a campaign for a woman President. Instead she makes this extraordinary suggestion: "If there is no such man, let us try finding six, each of which shall embody one or more of these virtues so that the sum of them may be a super-man, who shall set forth on the holiest crusade the world has ever known—the establishment of universal spiritual unity." Obviously the "spiritual" or any other kind of unity that could be achieved by a Wilson, a Harding, a Borah, and three other Presidents, all in the White House at one time, must be regarded as a good deal more than problematical. A woman President might be a safer experiment, as Mrs. Catt herself no doubt feels well assured.

TRIQUitous "HOT DOGS."

The supposedly tragic fall of the head of a New York brokerage house credited with a $2,000,000 failure to the lowly position of a vendor of "hot dogs" from a roadside stand has called attention to this food of the million. Not that it lacked attention before, for it is immensely popular and in constant demand, not only by hungry small boys but by motorists desirous of a light lunch on the open road. So insatiable is the appetite of multitudes for "hot dogs," it seems that "hundreds of thousands of merchants" all over the country are "rushing into the remunerative business" of supplying them. "The principal transcontinental 'highways,'" we read "are already lined with 'hot dog' stands placed at intervals of half a mile apart from coast to coast, and the prospects are that during the present season the gaps between will be rapidly filled up, so that the hungry motorist may be supplied at any stage of his journey without a moment's delay." Indeed, "hot dog" stands are appearing on the by-roads, and are causing congestion at the gateways of all our large cities.

And yet there may still be a few people personally unacquainted with this popular article of diet and may be curious to know just what it is. For their benefit it may be stated that a "hot dog" is a small roasted frankfurter sausage, dressed with mustard if preferred, and sandwiched between two halves of a roll. Though the epicure may be somewhat inclined to regard "hot dogs" as too common, the evidence that the people love them is complete, and even persons of taste have been known to assert that they are very good eating.

Magnus "Yonson" of Minnesota says "I don't give a damn for books," but when "I get down to Washington and start to fight they will know me; I'll straighten them out. I never quit." It is a pretty far cry from statements of the type of Washington, Jefferson, Webster, etc., to statements of the type of Henry Ford, La Follette, and Magnus "Yonson."

In a New York City court recently Judge McCook asked Carmen Napoletano, "Who owned this country previous to the Revolution?" "George Washington," was the prompt answer. Other answers were equally entertaining, and Mr. Napoletano was given six months to learn something about the country of which he desires to become a citizen. But if "history is bunk," as Henry Ford says, why could not the amusing Italian have been given his citizenship papers at once?

Burroughs Nature Club Notes

Copyright 1921.

By ROBERT M. MITCHELL, CO.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Is it known how much food a young robin eats in a day?
2. Why do they have so many wild animals left in a very old country like India, when we have so few in North America?
3. Is the skunk cabbage ever eaten?

Answers In Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Do turtles have eyelids? Yes, both upper and lower. The eyes are also protected by a nictitating membrane (such as is seen in birds) which can be drawn across the eye from side to side.

2. I am afraid San Jose scale is on my apple trees. What ought I to do?
Cut off a bit of the bark showing the scale and send it to your state entomologist, at your state department of agriculture, labelling it plainly with your own name and address. Write also to him stating you are sending a specimen to be examined, and that you want advice. Meanwhile, while waiting, it will do no harm to spray with whale oil soap solution.

3. I read your note that thrushes do not fly well. Is this true of bluebirds and robins?

We referred to the more distinctly thrush group, as wood, veery, etc., but of course robins and bluebirds belong to thrushes. Both are good flyers, and so high, when migrating. The bluebird sometimes goes so high human eyes do not see it, though human ears hear its note. Its ordinary flight is not extended, however, as it flits to the ground gets a mouthful, and returns to the perch or nest.

SAYS DANCES ARE A BOON TO ALLIGERVILLE.

Alligerville, July 22, 1923.
Editor, The Freeman:

It is a pleasure to have heard the announcement that the Thursday night dances will be continued, the music to be furnished by the same Kingston orchestra with four pieces instead of the customary three.

Many residents, who, though they do not care to dance, enjoy the music from out-of-doors and have expressed a desire to contribute toward the financial success of the dances and in accordance taking up a collection outside is contemplated in order to make all feel welcome.

The Saturday night dances continue to be very popular with those who enjoy the old fashioned dances. To say that the new K. of P. Hall is a boon to Alligerville and a credit to the community spirit of the K. of P. Lodge is to give credit where credit is due.

The old fashioned theory that the dance floor was a sure road to hell has received a severe jolt right here in our own sedate midst where we all could observe the wallop. If you are skeptical attend one of our dances and observe our mothers, fathers, sons and daughters enjoying an evening of wholesome entertainment.

It is our firm conviction that it is infinitely better and wiser that our boys and girls have the opportunity of enjoying themselves in their own community under the guidance of family and friends than for them to be obliged to surreptitiously seek their pleasure elsewhere.

The church and affiliated organizations after realizing that modern problems must be tackled with modern tactics will have no reason to complain that the young people of today have no time for the church. Youth is the great potential power and while it cannot be driven, can be directed best by providing the opportunity for pleasure and recreation under our own supervision.

WEEKS VISITS

W. J. Z. STATION

Floyd S. Weeks has just returned from New York City where he spent an afternoon at Aeolian Hall at station W J Z and W J Y. He gives a description as follows: The studio is tastefully decorated with soft colors and suitable furniture and made very comfortable for the artist. The noise of the city is not heard in these rooms of which there are three and are made sound proof. Even a word spoken is only carried a few feet and dies out. When you are to enter you pass through two sets of doors. The first door acts as an air lock before entering broadcasting room. The walls are hung with draperies or padded with felt, which deadens the voice and does away with any echo. The microphone is placed in front of the artist, which picks up the voice or music for the radio transmitter. This is a very sensitive piece of mechanism, being able to pick up the slightest variation.

The studio is located on the sixth floor and the actual broadcasting apparatus is located on the roof. When you enter this room you are surprised at the size of the tubes compared with your 201 A-U, V-199 or W. D. 11.

The room is very neat and done in black and no mess of wires as you would suppose as they are all concealed.

At one end of the room is a very neat mahogany desk at which is seated the operator with all controls near him for the complicated apparatus.

A signal from the studio and he sets a 2,200 volt generator in motion which delivers voltage to the plates of the big tubes.

Another signal and a red light flashes which notifies the announcer all is ready. They regulate all music and voices before reaching amplifier, which is located just outside of studio the same as one tunes in a station. The main amplifying is done on the roof. There is a vast difference listening in at a broadcasting and miles away you get no noise or static there.

A pass can be secured to visit this station only through the Radio Corporation of America, located at their building at 63 Broad street, New York City.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, July 23.—Milton Elmendorf has just purchased a new Durant car.

The Reformed Church shed is completed. The old shed was destroyed last winter by the weight of the snow upon the roof.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church will redecorate the interior of the church. It will take about a month to complete the work and during that time the Rev. C. N. Stevens is planning to take his vacation.

An extra large entertainment is promised at the Grange Hall on Wednesday evening, July 25. Dustin Farnum in the "Yosemite Trail," a high class comedy and then in addition, DeCosta and Madeline will give a funny one-act play entitled, "A Baby Hospital." No increase in the price of admission.

William Brissas has installed a battery service station.

The annual clambake and Ladies' Aid fair of the Reformed Church will be held sometime in August.

A very instructive poultry judging school was held in the Grange Hall on Thursday, July 19. Prof. Hurd was the instructor, and the meeting was planned by the Farm Bureau and was free to all interested in poultry. About thirty were present. Prof. Hurd and Mr. Chase were entertained by Oscar Hornbeck.

Mrs. Carrie Beatty and Mrs. Tracy Elmendorf were guests of Mrs. Milton Elmendorf on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Zack Roosa of Kingston and Miss Isabelle McDevitt are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis.

A number of the Girl Scouts are at the scout camp.

The Girl Scouts sell ice cream and soft drinks at the Grange Hall on "Movie Nights."

Fred Davis's radio attracts a number of people every evening. Mr. Davis has his loud speaker attached on his front porch and the concerts, etc., can be heard for a long distance up and down the street.

Don Gillispie is having good success selling cars. Mr. Gillispie is the agent for the Van Kleeck Garage in Kingston.

MORRIS BLOCK IS MURPHY'S CHOICE

Chairman of Democratic City Committee Announces His Candidate

Lucullus E. Dunne Said That His Candidate Was Not in Good Grace Of Murphy.

Chairman James J. Murphy and his committee met at the city hall last evening to select the Democratic slate for mayor and alderman-at-large, but before they did so, Mayor Roscoe Irwin, who is present, explained that this year the Democratic party was to have a special convention in August and that it would not be wise to nominate any one at the meeting but that the best be left to the unofficial convention.

Chairman Murphy agreed with Mr. Irwin that that might possibly be so, but said that as long as the committee had appointed were present, or the majority were present, it would not be unwise to bring out the names of candidates for mayor and alderman-at-large.

Chairman Murphy said that the Twelfth ward registered an objection and that nothing should be done until the convention, but he was overruled.

Captain Everett Fowler of the first ward, one of the leaders of the party, was the first man called upon by Chairman Murphy to express his choice of a candidate for mayor this fall, and the captain without hesitation favored the name of Morris Block.

Former Mayor Irwin when called upon said that in view of the unofficial convention he begged to be excused from expressing an opinion.

The first rift in the late occurred when former City Treasurer Joseph L. Sheppard said that the Ninth ward had a candidate who was fitted to lead the Democratic party and named Alderman Henry G. Macboidt. Mr. Sheppard said that Alderman Macboidt had been in the field for some time, and would make a good candidate. He had talked with Alderman Macboidt that day and the alderman had stated that he was still a candidate for the nomination.

Lucullus E. Dunne said that his candidate was "not in the good graces of the committee, and if those who did all the talking would get out and hustle around election time the party might be able to show some results."

Mr. Dunne later in the meeting said that his candidate for mayor was Alderman William P. Martin.

With the exception of Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Dunne all of the other members of Chairman Murphy's committee favored Mr. Block as the logical candidate.

Before taking up the naming of a candidate for alderman-at-large Mr. Irwin called attention to the vacancy to occur in the Court of Appeals by the retirement of Justice Hogan and urged those present to adopt a resolution favoring John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie to succeed Justice Hogan. Mr. Irwin had prepared a lengthy resolution which was read by Thomas Comerford and seconded by Captain Fowler and adopted.

Captain Fowler said that he favored either Martin or Macboidt for alderman-at-large as they had been mentioned as candidates for mayor and should be given a place on the ticket if possible.

"Bob" Howard of the Second ward, who has just received a $5,000 plum from the Democratic party, favored Alderman J. Phillip Belcher, while Alderman Michael A. Cashman of the Third ward was the favorite of the members of Chairman Murphy's committee from that ward.

As each member present was called upon to express a choice it was seen that there is likely to develop a fight in the unofficial convention in August with Aldermen Martin, Cashman and Belcher contenders for the nomination for alderman-at-large.

Alderman Macboidt's chances of getting on the Democratic ticket this fall if left in the hands of Chairman Murphy and his committee are about equal to a snowball on a Willite pavement on a hot July day.

If Alderman Martin is assured of a place on the ticket this fall it is not expected that he will put up a fight for the nomination for mayor but will accept alderman-at-large as the next best thing.

Chairman Murphy's committee, a majority of whom were present at the meeting Monday are:

First Ward—Everett Fowler, J. E. Kraft, Thomas J. Comerford, W. G. Merritt.

Second Ward—Robert J. Howard, Phillip Belcher, William Byrne, Joseph C. Hurley.

Third Ward—David Long, D. J. Murphy, Joseph Disch, C. V. DuBois.

Fourth Ward—John F. Larkin, Edward Gallagher, Richard Murphy, Jacob Schlip.

Fifth Ward—Jos. F. Sullivan, James Collins, Alderman William J. Keating, J. J. Feeney.

Sixth Ward—Thomas Ward, H. F. Connelly, James V. Halloran, Charles Trainor.

Seventh Ward—John A. Flecher, N. A. Huber, Jos. A. Mitchell.

Eighth Ward—Hugh McTague, Arthur Rice, John B. Glennon, Morris Nathan.

Ninth Ward—Joseph A. Sheppard, William Golden, Thomas F. Coughlin, John McGrane.

Tenth Ward—Eugene B. Carey, David Brown, John Gillen, Peter Bonesteel.

Eleventh Ward—Jos. A. Murray, Oscar Piechang, Frank A. Myers, Harry Clearwater.

Twelfth Ward—Hon. Roscoe Irwin, Lucullus Dunne, Hon. Jas. A. Betts, Edward Cullen.

Thirteenth Ward—John T. Egan, Jas. Fields, Edward Ryan, Bernard Reilly.

The meeting then adjourned after Mr. Irwin had assured those present that the chances for getting control of the Ulster county board of supervisor this fall looked excellent.

"City of Magnificent Distances." This name was applied to the city of Washington when it was laid out near the close of the Eighteenth century. It was planned on so grand a scale that few believed that the vision of the founders would ever become fact. The term applied in derision has become one of which the city is proud.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jump and son Cleon and daughter Lois of Broadway spent Sunday with their parents at Hensonville.

The members of the official board of the Methodist Church will hold a community block party Wednesday evening, July 25, on Main street. Home made cake, ice cream, home made candy, frankfurters, orangeade, coffee, watermelon, etc., will be on sale. An entertainment which promises to be fine. Good music will add to the joyous occasion. Five and ten cent articles are to be left at Harry Jump's grocery store.

There will be a special meeting of the Dorcas Society this evening in the Sunday school room of the Reformed Church at 8 o'clock.

Courtesy of Friendship. Don't matter yourself that friendship authorizes you to say disagreeable things to your intimates. The nearer you come into relation with a person the more necessary do tact and courtesy become. Except in cases of necessity, which are rare, leave your friend to learn unpleasant things from his enemies; they are ready enough to tell them.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

"City of Magnificent Distances." This name was applied to the city of Washington when it was laid out near the close of the Eighteenth century. It was planned on so grand a scale that few believed that the vision of the founders would ever become fact. The term applied in derision has become one of which the city is proud.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

OLD FAT HIPPO

"I am a fat old creature and I don't mind," said the Hippopotamus in the zoo.

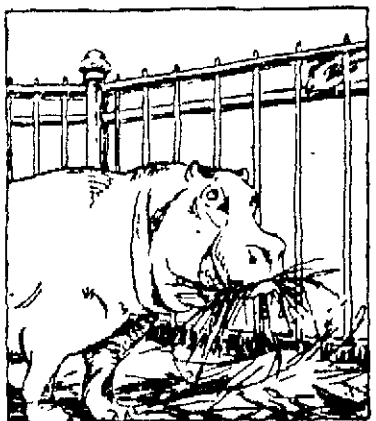

A sparrow had had a bath in the Hippo's pool and now was sitting on a bar of the hippo's indoor zoo room. "I'm interesting for I belong to an old, old family. They can't think back to a time when there weren't some of our family about."

"At least none of them can I know, and I've heard them even say that their grandmothers and great-grandmothers can't remember the time when there weren't some of us to be seen somewhere—either in Africa or in a zoo."

"For the members of our family lived a very, very long time ago. Our name of Hippopotamus comes from two words—two Greek words, I'm told. I don't speak Greek myself. Never did and never shall. At least, I don't ever expect to learn the language."

"Fancy seeing Old Fat Hippo with a Greek dictionary before him! In the first place I'm too lazy to study it. In the second place, it would all be so foolish."

"Hippopotamus talk is the same everywhere. We don't change our speech from African to American for example. In that way animals are far more sensible than people, I think. In one part of the country people speak in one language, and in another, quite a different language. Now, animals have the same language. Lions speak lion talk wherever they are! We speak Hippopotamus talk wherever we are."

"I Eat Enormous Quantities."

"But people! No, they're always thinking of how to give themselves extra trouble. But as I started to say our name comes from two Greek words. We are given our name by people, you see. I can't tell you the Greek words, and as I said before, I'm not going to study Greek."

"Why, just to show you how hard Greek is, people often say, 'Why, that would be Greek to me,' when they are talking about something which they couldn't possibly understand. Yes, that is just an expression, so it goes to show you how hard Greek is, that even an expression or saying of that sort has been made up about it."

"The two Greek words though, mean river horse. That is what hippopotamus means. And it's not a bad name, though it could be better. Still it might be worse: I eat enormous quantities of grass every day. I've a good hippopotamus appetite and my keeper says I do not need a tonic."

"In fact, I'm almost growing too fat. I weigh several thousand pounds, I believe. It is all because I eat a lot and don't exercise. But I don't care about exercising. I like to swim and they say that my relatives when free can climb up banks which are ever so high and can swim magnificently. But I don't care about exercising."

"I'd never care to do calisthenics every morning and evening, nor would I care to walk around my yard several times a day as quickly as I could. No, I wouldn't care for exercise."

"I would rather be fat. Oh yes, I'd much rather be fat. How dreadful it would be to be a thin hippopotamus and not have lots of weight. I'd hate to be called 'skinny' and I make sure there will never be any danger of that. Oh, I must have a nap now and I shall lie in my pool and take it. Later I may have a little splash and then a good meal and another rest."

"Oh, it is fun to rest and eat and dream hippopotamus dreams. They are dreams of more resting and more food by the way."

And the little sparrow flew out then, while the Hippopotamus did just as he had said he would. He had a nap and he was in his pool. Then he had a little splash. Then a good meal and another rest. And if you had looked at him you would have been pretty sure that he was dreaming of more rest and more food. He had that look on his hippopotamus face!

DESIRABLE GOOD THINGS

A dainty tasty way of serving veal for a small family is as follows:

Veal Birds.—Have a rather thin slice of veal cut from the leg. Pound until thin, cut into strips and place on each a spoonful of seasoned bread crumbs, using just such seasoning as the family likes. It may be a little paprika with onion, parsley or sage or poultry dressing and a grating of lemon peel. Roll up the strips, dip into seasoned flour after skewering well with toothpicks or tying with twine. Place in a hot frying pan with a little butter and brown well all over. Now add a cupful or more of thin cream or rich milk. Cover and simmer for half an hour. Serve with mashed potatoes and the gravy from the pan.

Frosted Ginger Cookies.—Cream one-quarter of a cupful of butter, with one-half of a cupful of sugar and the beaten yolks of two eggs, two table-spoonfuls of strong coffee infusion, one-half cupful of pastry flour, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-third of a teaspoonful of salt and three-fourths of a cupful of chopped candied ginger. Combine and blend well and drop from a spoon onto baking sheets. Bake in a moderate oven and when cool frost with marshmallow icing.

Tomato Nests.—Hollow out tomatoes and fill each with the following mixture: Drop a raw egg into the tomato, season with salt, pepper, and cover with two slices of bacon. Add a bit of Worcestershire sauce to each, skewer the slices of bacon with toothpicks and bake twenty minutes.

Rhubarb Pie.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of sliced rhubarb, one cupful of sugar, two table-spoonfuls of flour, one egg, mix well the egg, flour and sugar, add to the rhubarb. Line a pie tin with rich paste, fill with the mixture and cover with a top crust. Bake slowly in a moderate oven.

William H. Anderson

William H. Anderson, of Yonkers, N. Y., New York State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League and the most picturesque character in the organization, author, perhaps, of more newspaper statements than any living man, has been indicted by a New York grand jury on charges of grand larceny in the first degree and forgery. The two indictments against larceny grow out of a claim for $24,700 which Anderson presented to the league. He has always refused to say for what he spent the money he claimed. The charge of forgery is based on alleged manipulation of the league's books. Anderson, who alleges the charges are the result of a political plot, is backed solidly by the league.

ONE-PRICE SYSTEM ORIGINATOR FOUND

R. H. Macy of Haverhill, Later of N. Y., Bases Claim on Advertisement Seventy Years Ago.

Who started the one-price system? Only a few generations ago such a thing as a fixed retail price for an article was unknown. Today it is the ruling principle in all reputable business establishments.

Many conflicting claims have been entered for the honor of having originated the one-price system. A valuable bit of evidence bearing upon the issue has just been found. It is in the form of an old New England newspaper, the Essex Banner, of Haverhill, Mass., dated October 1, 1853. In it appears the earliest recorded advertisement containing a definite statement of a one-price policy. It is the advertisement of R. H. Macy, founder of the business of R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., New York, who conducted a store in Haverhill at that time.

The inauguration of the one-price system really marked the beginning of a new epoch in American retailing. From the medieval days when trade was really barter between two parties who had something to exchange, haggling and double dealing had usually accompanied the transaction.

With his shrewd Yankee wit, Mr. Macy saw that the only way to build up a sound retail enterprise in which the public would repose confidence was to guarantee one fixed price to every person who bought his merchandise. Aside from the essential honesty of such a policy, he realized that it was also good business.

The store could not grow to any large extent with a sliding scale of prices determined in each case by the salesperson. If the advertising were to mean very much it would have to describe merchandise and the price for which it was selling.

In fact, the whole institution of the department store as we know it today, really rests on the one-price policy as a basis. By originating and setting the example of a fixed price in retailing, Mr. Macy made possible the modern department store.

The Haverhill advertisement was one of unprecedented size for that time, occupying almost two-thirds of the first page. In it Mr. Macy stated: "We shall, as we always have, sell our goods for cash, and the one-price system will be rigidly and faithfully carried out. My constantly increasing trade during the two and one-half years I have done business in this town teaches me that this system is appreciated by the public generally."

The advertisement emphasized Macy's underselling policy. In fact the principles it enunciated guide the store to this day. Mr. Macy's far-sightedness is evident in the fact that when he opened the Haverhill store in 1851, he did not locate in the central retail district, but established it instead about one-half mile down the river in a fashionable residential section. Today the building housing the original Macy store is located in the center of Haverhill's retail district.

When Macy came to New York, located at Sixth avenue and 14th street, which also in later years became a central shopping district. As related in "The Romance of a Great Store" by Edward Hungerford, Mr. Macy took his daughter for a walk one day and pointing to the corner on which the present Macy establishment stands in Herald Square, said: "That is going to be the central shopping district of New York some day."

FOURTH BIRNENWATER.

Fourth Birnewater, July 23.—The Ladies' Aid meeting was very well attended Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Jordan, eleven ladies being present.

Mrs. L. Keator's boarders went on a load to Lake Mohonk Thursday. Dance at the club house Saturday night.

The Ladies' Aid will hold a rummage sale August 7th on the lawn of Mrs. Myron Freer. If stormy the next fair day. All kinds of fancy articles will be for sale, also ice cream and cake. Lunch will be served from 4 p. m. until all are served.

Myron Freer is home for a day or two not feeling able to work.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Clarke and Floyd Deitz motored to Kingston Thursday on business for the club.

Rufus Freer and family from Mount Marion motored down to see his father and mother Monday night.

Miss Eva Lasher, who has been visiting her grandmother at New Paltz, has returned home.

Miss Anna Wilson, who came up from New York for her health, is doing nicely at present.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Practical Apron Model.

4405. No buttons or snap fasteners to be considered, easy to adjust so easy to launder—and without so comfortable and neat. An ideal apron indeed. The pattern as here shown was developed in figured percale, and trimmed with rick rack braid. The style is good for all apron materials. In damask with pipings of saffron or linen in a contrasting color, it will be very pleasing.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. The width at the foot is 2 1/4 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Sent 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies and Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches, all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, July 23.—The annual fair and food sale of the Lutheran Church will be held on the lawn of Henry Peper, opposite the church, on August 8, beginning at 2 o'clock. A fine assortment of fancy and useful articles will be on sale, also good home cooked food.

Save Old Nails and Tacks.

When you clean house do not throw away old nails and tacks. Instead, when you repot flowers or prepare window or porch boxes scatter the nails and tacks through the bottom layer of soil, not in the flowers or other plants, and fill with rich soil. When you water the plants the nails and tacks will rust, improving the soil in such a way as to delight you with the strong, beautiful growth of the plants.

The people of Kingston and vicinity will soon be struggling with Ivory Salt—not to get Ivory Salt out of shakers but to get words out of Ivory Salt. Cash prizes to winners. Watch for advertisement.

Elizabeth McDonald, a 13-year-old Boston girl, admitted to the Chelsea "Mass." police that she took little "Sour" McDonald, a four-year-old child, to the dock in Boston Harbor and threw him into the water. He was drowned. This was the fourth child the little girl had pushed into the water, but the others were saved. Chester Wojciechowski, aged 3, and Michael Nazorny, 4, are pointing to the hole in the dock through which she pushed the child.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service)

WILL ALLOW FAMILY CLAIMS

Class Heretofore Regarded as Unauthorized Now Permitted by U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

Consideration of a class of veterans' claims heretofore regarded as unauthorized will be permitted by the United States Veterans' bureau, according to word received by the American Legion.

A new ruling provides that claims which were made for family allowance after the veteran's discharge from the service can now be considered where the person to whom it was desired to make the allowance was subsequently brought by law within the permitted class of beneficiaries.

In the particular case submitted by the Veterans' bureau for decision, an attempt was made by an enlisted man to claim an allowance for his aunt, who, he showed, was absolutely dependent upon him for support. At that time the claim was disallowed because an aunt was not then, nor now, within the permitted class of family allowance beneficiaries. The aunt involved in this case, however, stood in loco parentis to the enlisted man.

Following the discharge of the enlisted man from the service, the first Sweet bill amended the war risk insurance act by enlarging the permitted class to whom allowances might be made to include "persons who have stood in loco parentis to a member of the military or naval forces at any time prior to his enlistment or induction for a period of not less than one year." This amendment was made retroactive in its force to October 6, 1917. The aunt in the case ruled upon held such status.

In view of this retroactive provision the comptroller general has ruled that a regulation of the Veterans' bureau requiring that application for family allowance must have been made while the enlisted man was still in the service to form a basis for a successful claim does not apply where a subsequently enacted law has given rights which could not have been claimed while the enlisted man was in service.

HOME FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Wonderful Estate in Heart of New York Forest Preserve to Be Used as Sanitarium.

Free treatment will be afforded tubercular veterans in the Veterans' Mountain camp of the American Legion, a project sponsored by the ex-service men's organization in the Adirondack mountains of New York. Here a 1,275-acre estate of a former well known millionaire has been secured in the heart of the New York forest preserve. The camp will not only be used as a sanitarium for tubercular and convalescent veterans but will eventually become a home for aged and indigent ex-service men.

The only requirement for admission will be an honorable discharge from the armed forces of the United States. Everything will be furnished to the war fighters, treatment, board, lodging, clothing, and pocket money. Veterans from any section of the country will be admitted, if it is proved they are in need.

The project was originated by the American Legion in New York as a portion of its hospitalization program. The Legionnaires of the state seek a fund of $2,500,000 to provide for the camp, and a campaign has been waged throughout the state to this end.

In speaking of the project, the committee in charge stated: "The camp is a tangible manifestation by the American Legion that it means to end the intolerable conditions under which thousands of veterans have been dragging along. The Legion means to provide the necessities these men have lacked and place their comrades beyond the reach of want. It hopes to awaken the nation to the reality of things, and is firm in its belief that once aroused, it will come forward, heart and hand, and aid them in this great work."

Among the honorary committee which is serving in assisting to raise the fund are former Ambassadors James W. Gerard, Otto H. Kahn, David Belasco, Augustus Thomas, George W. Wickesham and others.

Memorial Erected.

A memorial has been erected by the University of Arkansas in honor of the students of that institution who gave their lives in the World War. A huge boulder of native limestone to which is attached a bronze plate bearing the names of the dead heroes serves as the memorial. American Legion members had charge of the dedicatory ceremonies.

Brought Out Ancient Autos.

Legionnaires in Santa Ana, Cal., recently held a most unique celebration in an "Automobile Resurrection day" which they staged. Derelict cars of every type were sought out and formed a parade through the city's streets. It is said that the stanzas of some of the cars was so ancient that automobile manufacturers sought to purchase them as relics.

"Hard" and "Soft" Maple.

Maple is both "hard" and "soft." The former is in demand wherever resistance and great strength are required, as for meat boards, chopping bowls, rolling pins, etc. Soft maple is employed in making handles, butter bowls and trussing boards.

THORNTON FRIEND OF LEGION

Head of Canadian Railway System, Long in Army Service, Strong for Organization.

A Canadian by adoption, but formerly a citizen of the United States, Sir Henry Thornton, head of the great Canadian national railway system, shows his respect for American World War fighters, on every occasion.

When members of the American Legion in Canada gathered to pay tribute to the honored World War dead of the nation, Sir Henry was the principal speaker, taking this opportunity to demonstrate his regard for the heroes of the land of his birth. The event was attended not only by American Legion members, but representatives of nearly every allied nation.

One of the best known men in the Dominion of Canada, Sir Henry is heartily co-operating with the attempt of the American Legion to organize the veterans of the United States now in Canada into posts of the American Legion. A recent reorganization of the Legion in the Dominion has caused the inauguration of such a campaign.

Sir Henry was born in Lonsport, Ind., in 1871. His early education was received at St. Paul's, Concord, N. H., and he later entered the University of Pennsylvania. Here he received a degree from the civil engineering department of the school in 1894, and almost immediately obtained employment with the Pennsylvania Railway company as a draughtsman. He held various important positions with the engineering department of this company and in 1911 became general superintendent of the Long Island railway, a subsidiary line of the Pennsylvania. In this capacity he had much to do with the development of the Long Island terminal and with the electrification of the Long Island railroad.

In April, 1914, he was called to England to become general manager of the Great Eastern railway. This railway was one of the most important military lines of communication during the war. In 1916 Mr. Thornton was named deputy director of inland water transportation, with the rank of colonel in the Royal Engineers. This department handled all inland water navigation in northern France, Egypt and Mesopotamia. He rose to the rank of major general, and was named inspector general of transportation in 1918. Following his acceptance of British naturalization in 1919, he was gazetted a knight commander of the Order of the British Empire. He has been awarded the American Distinguished Service Medal, the Order of Leopold from the Belgians, and the Legion of Honor from the French.

Sir Henry Thornton, K. C. B.

Call from Canada for Sir Henry's services came in November, 1922, when he was asked to go to the Dominion to the Canadian National Railway system as chairman of the board of directors and president of the company.

AIM TO TEACH PATRIOTISM

Several New Laws, Approved by American Legion, Passed by West Virginia Legislature.

Before any person can become a teacher in West Virginia schools, he or she must take an oath of allegiance to support the Constitution of the United States and the state of West Virginia. This is the text of a bill passed recently by the West Virginia legislature, as one of three measures sponsored by the American Legion, all of which have become statutes of the state.

The bill requiring the oath of allegiance is one of the ideas for carrying out plans for thorough Americanization put forward by the Legion and given strength by the support of the veterans' organization.

Another bill requires that the United States flag shall be flown over every schoolhouse in the state while schools are in session, except in inclement weather. The bill further provides that the flag, a regulation United States standard, shall be purchased by the school board from the building fund.

The third bill which received the support of the Legion calls for thorough training in the schools of the state in history of the United States, civics, and instruction in the constitutions of the nation and of the state. This bill was presented with the idea that this would the principles of Americanism, the perpetuation of the ideals of the nation, and knowledge of the organization of the government become known to every student in the state.

One Runs Up on Sidewalk and Telephone Pole and Then Street.

Two Ford cars, one owned by Noat, and the other by George Williams, a resident at Dwyer's brickyard, were performing on lower broadway at 5 o'clock. As a result both cars were damaged.

According to the police report of an officer, Burger was driving up broadway and Williams down the broadway. Williams claimed that Williams was driving so fast that he had to turn his car in a manner that it ran up on the sidewalk in front of Maroon's store and around the telephone pole and across the street landing on sidewalk in front of Maroon's store. Williams claimed it was Burger's fault.

Both cars were damaged.
No one was hurt.

VOIGHT BARN AT ACCORD BURNED

Accord, July 24.—The barn and granary on the premises occupied by Walter W. Voight burned to the ground late Sunday afternoon. The livestock were removed from the building but the fire gained headway so quickly that nothing else was saved. Volunteer fire fighters saved the house from burning by throwing water on the end of the building.
The loss of the building was partly covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Voight wish to express their gratitude to their neighbors and friends who gathered so quickly and gave such efficient help at the fire and in saving the dwelling house from destruction.

Improving Yellow Diamonds.

Diamonds of the finest water are pure white, giving off flashing lights of red, green and blue. Any tinge of yellow in a diamond has always greatly reduced its value. Recently, however, a process has been discovered whereby the color of the yellow diamond may be changed, and its value enhanced. Treatment of the stone consists in placing the diamond over a small hole in a block of lead. Rays from a tube containing radium are directed into this hole, and slowly a change takes place. The discolored stone loses its yellow hue, and by degrees takes on a magnificent flashing green color, not unlike the emerald.
The length of time required to complete the change varies. Sometimes the transformation is comparatively quick, often it takes a year or more.
The result is a jewel of surpassing beauty.

Preserving Mount Vernon.

Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington, belongs to the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association of the Union, an organization founded in 1853 by Miss Ann Pamela Cunningham, of South Carolina. At that time the historic estate was falling into decay.
The association succeeded in raising $200,000 with which to buy the property and took possession in 1858. It has few members. Every state is entitled to one vice regent, but not every state has one. The chief income of the association is the fee of 25 cents that is charged for admission to Mount Vernon. All the money so received is used to maintain the property. Every year in May the vice regents meet at Mount Vernon for their council week and to inspect the estate.—Youth's Companion.

FRED ANDERSON WAS FINED $20

This morning in police court after a hearing before Judge Schrick a fine of $20 was imposed on Fred Anderson, arrested the other evening by Alderman Ralph Mann who charged Anderson with disorderly conduct in using profane language on the street. Five business men testified that Anderson had used the language stated.

"If a Man Write a Better Book" Etc.

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse trap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door." There has been considerable controversy as to the source of the foregoing quotation. It has been attributed to John R. Paxton, Emerson, Elbert Hubbard and others. An investigation made by the Literary Digest in 1915 reached a conclusion naming Elbert Hubbard as the author of the quotation and disposing of other claims. In the Literary Digest of April 3, 1920, the statement as to the authorship of the quotation is repeated.

DAILY TALE DAIRY

Cooling Tank Essential for Producers of Cream

Every farmer who milks a few cows should have a cooling tank of some kind. It makes little difference whether he patronizes a creamery, cheese factory, sells milk or keeps it for his own use; a cooling tank is necessary.

Why not capitalize the great storehouse of cold which lies in the ground?
This can be done by simply passing the water designed for live stock first through a tank which will serve as a refrigerator for all products which need cooling. Well or spring water in most of the dairy states has a temperature varying from 55 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit, writes A. L. Haacker in the Illinois Farmer. This is about as cold as the average domestic refrigerator. By utilizing this cold water to chill down the milk, cream or other products we are getting refrigeration at the lowest possible cost.

Millions of dollars are lost annually to the cow-keepers of this country purely on account of the neglect of milk and cream while it is held at the farm. Butter and cheese would be greatly improved if every patron used a cooling tank. As a matter of convenience it is worth while for every farmer to have a place to keep the milk and cream, and where a refrigerator can be put into use the housewife will find it very efficient and convenient.

A cooling tank is needed in both winter and summer; in winter to prevent freezing and to retain the cream or milk at a uniform and favorable temperature, while certainly in summer it is needed to prevent extreme souring and the development of undesirable flavors. Cold is a wonderful preservative. We are told that the prehistoric mammoth has been preserved in the ice of the polar region for 50,000 years. When dairy products or perishable foods are kept at a low temperature decomposition is retarded, and with dairy products this means much in the way of better quality and price. A can of cream kept in a good cooling tank is worth a dollar more than the same can kept outside and exposed to the heat of average summer weather. The producer is more interested in this dollar than anyone else. He may not feel that he is losing the dollar simply because he gets the same price for his product, but this is only a temporary condition; the industry is losing the dollar, and he is the most important and biggest part of the industry. As a matter of satisfaction it should be worth while to turn out a good product when it is nearly as easy to do so.

The grading of cream and paying a differential for quality is rapidly coming into general use. In a little while the cream producers will either have to get cooling tanks or suffer a big loss due to producing second grade cream. The cooling tank is sound, sensible, economical and demanded by decent and progressive farming methods, and we should all be for anything that has so much merit.

Farmers Now Realizing Importance of Good Sire

These are days of opportunity for breeders of purebred cattle. Farmers in general are realizing the importance of putting first-class purebred sires at the head of their herds. With this good demand for bulls it is poor policy for breeders having young bulls for sale not to give them good care and plenty of the right kind of feed. Improper feeding of the young bull is poor economy.

The man out looking for a bull is not much impressed when shown an undersized half-starved bull, no matter how well bred he is. Better prices always are secured for those that are in good thrifty condition and of good size for their age. We cannot afford to sacrifice size in developing the bulls.

Remember the bull that has not been well fed is generally disappointing to the buyer. A disappointed buyer is a poor advertisement. A stunted animal is not always satisfactory as a breeder.—W. L. Billard, Professor of Animal Husbandry, Oklahoma A. and M. College.

Iowa Demonstrates Value of Good Purebred Sires

The value of good purebred sires in grading up scrub or grade cows was shown at the Iowa state college in an experiment starting in 1907. Native scrub cattle from Arkansas were graded up through the continuous use of purebred sires. The granddaughters had an average increase of 4,471.7 pounds of milk and 186.60 pounds of butterfat over their scrub dams.

What Cow Should Produce.

A good dairy cow should produce at least 6,000 pounds of milk or 200 pounds of butterfat per year. Many cows do not come up to this record of production.

Cow Is Efficient Machine.

A good cow is an efficient machine,
but her owner is often a poor mechanic.

Get Rid of Scrub Bull.

The best time to get rid of the scrub
bull is today.

The Useful Hawk.

There is a long list of hawks in the country, and the sparrow hawk is the smallest of the family. In so far as our interests are concerned it is a most useful bird, for it feeds on mice, on not a few insect pests, as crickets and grasshoppers; also on spiders and the rest.—Nature Magazine.

FOR OUR FINAL SALE OF THE SEASON

On Coats, Wraps, Suits, Dresses, Furs, Millinery, Blouses, Lingerie and Hosiery

SALE STARTS

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 25

AT 9:30 O'CLOCK SHARP

Not in twenty-three years of our business career on Wall street have we taken such losses as we will take this year to make this sale the biggest money-saving event in the history of Kingston. Clearance of COATS, WRAPS, SUITS, DRESSES, MILLINERY, SKIRTS, LINGERIE, BLOUSES and HOSIERY, the low prices of which will echo from one end of the county to the other.

It will be a sale that will offer such special inducements that women of Ulster County and vicinity should exert every effort to come and share in the vast advantages it offers.

Our Final Sale of the season is too well known to every woman in this vicinity to pass unnoticed. This year we are offering an unprecedented stock of garments—lower in price than any previous sale—which is indeed an important factor for consideration. This sale will be our greatest clearance of outer apparel because we bought heavily and are overstocked which makes it imperative to turn our stock into cash.

RED SOX ON DECK TOMORROW

On Wednesday night at 6:15 the long-sought Red Sox will come to this city to engage the local club in the first game of a seven-game series between these two clubs. The Red Sox took quite a while to get a winning combination together but it looks now as though they really have one. Sid Ross, former Colonial, is with the Bridge City aggregation and it may be that he will pitch against the local team Wednesday.

"Chad" Sox will be with the Colonials tomorrow night but it is not known whether he will pitch or not. At present "Chad" is under contract with the White Plains team to pitch one game a week for them. If Sox stays with the White Plains club he has promised to pitch one game a week for the Colonials providing that that game comes in the middle of the week. Wednesday night Sox will give the local management a definite answer as to his plans for the future. If he decides to stay with White Plains he will pitch tomorrow night against the Red Sox. If he decides to play with only the Colonials for the rest of the season Manager Schrick will not use him in the box until Friday when Tannersville plays here.

There will be a double header staged at the Fair Grounds on Saturday which will either take the form of two contests between Stamford and the local team or one contest between Stamford and one between Red Hook and the local club.

Strange Experience.
One day as I was about to enter a dry goods store I found a dollar bill, which I turned over to the cashier. A few minutes later, while standing at the counter of a grocery store, a woman next to me dropped a dollar bill. I picked it up and handed it to her. "Oh," she said, "I've already lost one this afternoon." "This was I, a stranger, able to aid her in the recovery of $2 that day," Exchange.

Unpleasant Ordeal.
The callers had gone and little he remarked to his mother, as he wiped the powder of his face: "I don't like to have them kiss me. Their faces are just like a marshmallow."

He's Now "The Old Master" as the result of Decisive Victory Over Tender—Tender Admits Benny Is Better Man.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 24.—"The old master," that title which has rested on the pugilistic shelf since the great Joe Gans passed on—may now in all propriety be hailed out, dusted off and placed firmly on the brow of Benny Leonard.

Never in his palmiest days did the marvelous negro lightweight display anything that would overshadow the dazzling exhibition of the lightweight champion last night, before sixty thousand people in the Yankee Stadium, in decisively winning the decision over Lew Tander of Philadelphia in 15 rounds.

Here are some of the things Leonard did.

He outpointed the Philadelphia star in each round except the first, which was a tame and even affair.

He made Tander fight as he (Leonard) desired, never for a minute during the whole bout permitting the Philadelphian to set the pace.

He completely smothered Tander's justly famed left hand, the hand which has time and again brought opponents down with one punch. Tander did not land one good, clean wallop with his deadly right in the fight.

He demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt that he is Tander's master in every particular.

There was only one thing which Leonard set out to do that he did not accomplish. That was to knock out the challenger. It seemed, from the thirteenth round on, that the champion would accomplish that but Tander stuck it out, mainly because of his ability in the parlance of the ring, to take it. Leonard landed several terrific right hand punches both to the body and head in the closing three rounds and Tander reeled around like a drunken man, but he remained upright grimly holding on at every opportunity.

In the thirteenth round Tander, dizzy from the effects of a sizzling one-two combination, a left jab followed by a straight right to the head, missed a swing and fell to his knees. Leonard was poised to leap in and deliver a finishing punch when the challenger arose, but the referee, Andy Griffin, ruled clumsily about in rubbing the resin dust off Tander's gloves and the few seconds respite enabled the Philadelphian's head to clear sufficiently for him to stick out the round.

Leonard's victory places him absolutely in a class by himself as far as the present day lightweighters are concerned. Tander, without doubt, a great lightweight, was so decisively whipped that he himself was the first to concede it.

"You're a better man than I am, Benny, and that's from the heart," he declared a few seconds after the final bell rang, as he and the champion stood in the middle of the ring, patting each other on the back. Tander was bleeding rather freely from the nose and from a cut under the eye. Leonard was unmarked.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE BIG LEAGUES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
The Giants went on a slugging spree in the eighth inning, knocked out three of the box and beat the Phillies, 5 to 4.

After battling 11 innings to a 2 to 2 tie the Pirates went to pieces in the 12th, gave the Chicago Cubs 9 runs and lost, 12 to 3.

The Cincinnati Reds had things their way until the seventh when the Cardinals pounded in six runs off Rixey and won, 8 to 7.

Chie pitched effectively and the Indians defeated the Browns, 3 to 2 in the only game played in the American League.

SUGGESTS A MIRROR AS AID TO HONESTY
Rotarian Also Finds Fault With Popular Shop Signs.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chicago, July 24.—A mirror hung in a prominent place as an antidote for the average man's "dishonesty with himself" was prescribed by Raymond H. Havens, chairman of the committee of business men who met last night at the Rotarian Club to open a new season here yesterday.

"As a concrete instance of the average business man's dishonesty with himself," said Mr. Havens, who hails from Kansas City, "are such signs appearing in stores all over the land as 'It's no trouble to show goods' and 'Money cheerfully refunded.'"

"These signs were old probably when present day merchants' fathers were boys. But that doesn't make them any the less dishonest. If it's no trouble to show goods' then the merchant places a negligently valued on the time and service of his goods. Of course it's trouble to show goods but worth it if the goods are sold; and the other—who ever heard of money being refunded cheerfully? If it's done here because of honesty and prestige, but not from a heart overflowing with cheerfulness."

"The best investment for this business man is a mirror. I advise him to hang it in a prominent place and look in it every morning before going to work. That will start the interrogation 'Am I honest with myself?'"
